

BIOGRAPHY

Tim Kotnour, Ph.D.,
Associate Professor
Industrial Engineering & Management Systems
University of Central Florida

Tim Kotnour, Ph.D., is an Associate Professor in the Department of Industrial Engineering and Management Systems and Director of the Management Systems Performance Laboratory (MSPL) at UCF. Dr. Kotnour partners with senior management teams to develop solutions for sustained performance excellence for their organization.

He has delivered performance solutions through technical assistance, training, and research with industry, government, and universities in strategic management, change management, organizational transformations, performance measurement, and strategic project management. Past and current partners include the NASA, Kennedy Space Center, Walt Disney Company, The Boeing Company, Lockheed Martin, Siemens Westinghouse Power Generation, Harris, SAIC, Dynacs Engineering Inc., U.S. Air Force, Department of Energy, and Carilion Healthcare System. He was awarded a NASA Public Service Medal for the partnership work with the Kennedy Space Center.

He teaches Project Engineering, Management Information Systems, and Engineering Management both on and off campus for industrial partners within Central Florida. He has provided project management education to organizations such as Kennedy Space Center, Cilent, Lockheed Martin, and Fed-ex.

NASA Project Management Conference